

Here's the cover letter:

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Y0-2 classroom teaching position at Harewood School. With over 18 years of dedicated experience in Foundation Phase and Special Education, I am confident that my expertise and passion for inclusive, supportive learning environments align perfectly with your school's commitment to nurturing young learners.

My comprehensive background in special educational needs, particularly supporting students with autism, Down syndrome, ADHD, and intellectual disabilities, has equipped me with a deep understanding of differentiated learning strategies. Throughout my career, I have successfully developed and implemented adaptive curriculum approaches that ensure every child can access and engage with learning at their individual pace and potential.

As a registered New Zealand teacher with a Bachelor of Education in Foundation Phase, I bring not only extensive international teaching experience but also specialized certifications in communication support, including Makaton and Sign Language modules. These skills enable me to create truly inclusive classroom environments where all children feel valued, understood, and empowered to learn.

My teaching philosophy centers on recognizing each child's unique strengths, providing targeted support, and fostering a positive, engaging learning atmosphere. I am particularly passionate about early childhood development and believe in creating responsive, nurturing educational experiences that support holistic student growth.

I am excited about the opportunity to contribute my skills and experience to Harewood School's dynamic learning community. I would welcome the chance to discuss how my background and approach could support your educational goals.

Thank you for considering my application.

Warm regards,

Henriette Charlotte Beeslaar
