

Here's the cover letter:

Dear Principal and Hiring Committee,

I am writing to apply for the Kaiako Y1-3 position at Panama Road School, with great enthusiasm and confidence in my ability to contribute meaningfully to your educational community.

With 18+ years of dedicated experience in Foundation Phase and Special Education, I bring a comprehensive background in creating inclusive, supportive learning environments. My Bachelor of Education in Foundation Phase, coupled with full New Zealand Teaching Registration, positions me as a highly qualified candidate who understands both academic and pastoral care requirements.

My specialized expertise lies in supporting students with diverse learning needs, particularly those with autism, Down syndrome, ADHD, and intellectual disabilities. Throughout my career, I have developed robust strategies for curriculum adaptation, behavior modification, and personalized learning approaches. My Makaton Certification and Sign Language qualifications further demonstrate my commitment to accessible, communication-rich educational experiences.

Panama Road School's reputation for inclusive education and holistic student development resonates deeply with my professional philosophy. I am passionate about creating learning spaces where every child can thrive, regardless of their individual challenges or learning differences.

My bilingual background in English and Afrikaans, combined with my extensive experience in special educational needs, enables me to connect with students and colleagues from diverse backgrounds. I am excited about the opportunity to bring my skills, empathy, and innovative teaching methods to your school community.

I look forward to discussing how my experience and approach can contribute to Panama Road School's educational goals.

Warm regards,
