

Here's the cover letter:

Dear Principal and Hiring Committee,

I am writing to apply for the Scale A classroom teaching position at Huntley School, and I am excited about the opportunity to contribute my extensive experience in Foundation Phase and Special Education to your learning community.

With 18+ years of dedicated teaching experience, I bring a profound commitment to inclusive education and specialised learning support. My background in working with students with diverse needs - including autism, Down syndrome, ADHD, and intellectual disabilities - has equipped me with robust skills in curriculum adaptation, behaviour modification, and personalised learning strategies.

My professional qualifications align closely with this role. As a fully registered New Zealand teacher with a Bachelor of Education in Foundation Phase, I am well-versed in contemporary educational approaches. My additional certifications in Makaton and Sign Language further demonstrate my ability to support diverse learners and create accessible learning environments.

My teaching philosophy centers on recognising each child's unique potential. I am passionate about developing individualised learning plans that empower students to achieve their personal best, with a particular strength in creating supportive, engaging classroom environments that celebrate neurodiversity and individual learning styles.

Huntley School's reputation for inclusive, student-centered education resonates deeply with my professional values. I am eager to bring my expertise in early childhood development and special educational needs to your team, contributing to a dynamic and supportive learning community.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experience could support Huntley School's educational goals. Thank you for considering my application.

Warm regards,
